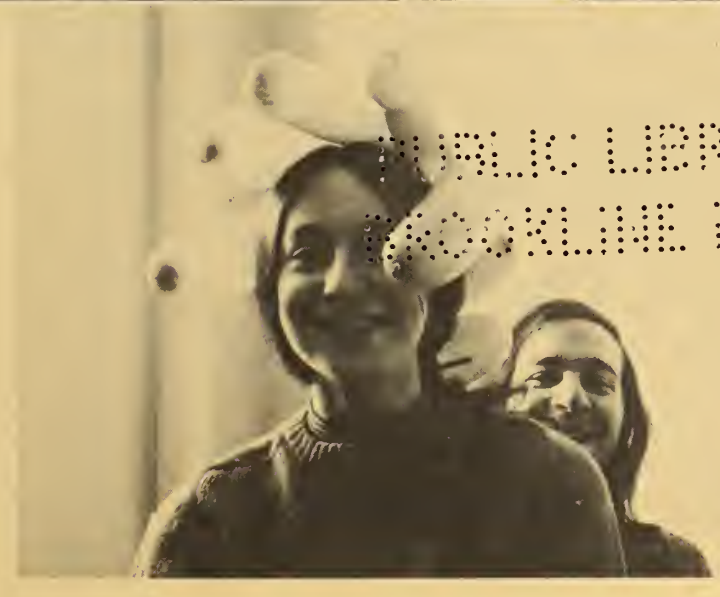
BROOKLINE HIGH SCHOOL



PUBLIC LIBRARY
BROOKLINE MASS.

Gift

CLOSET

THE MURIVIAN

1972

This high school is people. Real, tangible, moving, growing people: their feelings make life what it is. But good or bad, high school life belonged to us, deeply affected us. It was us! It certainly didn't lack moments of intense concern, belief and action. We remember a look, a smile, shouting voices, stomping feet; a celebration of life. The hours of working whether writing with a pen, or studying spanish or building an engine. Thus for your pleasure and fulfillment the intent of this yearbook has been to create for the special owner a catalyst to a kind of history of the year. The 1972 Murivian contains many different sometimes extremely personal points of view in order to present the spirit of our high school year.

We wish to give special thanks to Robert Selame, Kathy Ham and John Lamb in appreciation of the effort on behalf of this year's Brookline High School Murivian.

The Senior, perhaps, does not love the school. Rather, he is attached to it. The school has become a part of his life that cannot be ignored or denied. Almost against his will, the Senior has been sucked into a vast maze of names, faces and events which have impressed themselves indelibly upon his mind.

Senior Steering Committee

At 8:05 a.m. they begin to scatter, half asleep, they pour out of buses, cars, trolleys, bunching up at doorways, ducking cars across Greenough Street, shuffling through the quadrangle: dressed in jeans, bellbottoms, miniskirts, turtlenecks—a maze of shapes and colors. Looking closer, the shapes separate, individuals, gradually emerge through four years of high school.

Walking into the cafeteria you always pass a bunch of kids, hanging on the banister, leaning on the walls. Inside, the large room is a static. People are talking, laughing, chattering. The radio station broadcasting is blaring. The tables around lunchtime are always crowded and there are a number of souls burdened with a purchased tray of bought food, desperately seeking a place at one of the many quadrangle tables. Those who are lucky enough to have a seat with their friends are smiling, wild happenings being related to the grinning listeners, hands gesturing fanatically. Girls holding straws with their wrists bent, guys leaning against the backs of chairs. Ladies in white are picking up trash, mopping tabletops, pushing around barrels. Someone across the way has forgotten a spoon or a fork. Coats are thrown over chairs, and someone making his way through the jungle of tables will ever knock you with his elbow.

Houses, homerooms, classes, attendance records! In the beginning they all seemed so different—but the year brought changes in perspective. For it was people we were dealing with, not rooms, courses, shapes or numbers. There were days of responsibility and irresponsibility and sometimes they were linked in one and were the same for all.

Sports is more than playing the game. Sports is the hours of practice, the discipline, the sore muscles and the skill. Sport is giving a fullness of giving, the pride that comes with winning and still enjoying the game if you lose. Sport is competition, and coordinating with a team. Sport is the strength of the gymnast, the endurance of the runner, the speed of the swimmer, the power of a tackle, the cleverness of a coach.

Row 1: Paul Kalnins, George Morrison, Curtis Rod, Dan O'Leary, Bob McGourty, Chuck Kennedy, Phil Heggie, Brad Kennedy, Rich Saunders, Harry Carroll. Row 2: Coach Schluntz, Mr. Barandino, Mike McHugh, Gary Travis, Mike Perry, Jackie Hogan, Rich Simmons, Peter Greene, Bill Sterret, Jeff Berkman, Jay Ball, Jackie Kirrane, Phil Duggan, Jim Hamelburg, Coach Fleming, Mr. Devio—trainer. Row 3: Mike McGourty, Jeff LaRouche, Joe Laporto, Steve Clifford, Paul Martin, Scott Whitman, Pat Ward, Gil Hoy, Glen Holt, Jeff Cohen, Glen Carle. Absent: Bill Seibolt.

We regret that there is no picture of the freshman football team.

BROOKLINE

"Bob McGourty encompasses everything that you'd look for in a boy in a team sport. He is concerned with the welfare of the team rather than individual glory or performance. As captain he was an excellent leader, concerned with welfare of every boy on the team—he had excellent team spirit. He performed very well despite the fact that he's playing a game where size is an important factor. Pound for pound he was as good as any football player in the league—he was an aggressive and spirited player."

Coach Schluntz

Bill (Blue Chip) Seibolt—Brookline High's All-Scholastic.

CHEERLEADERS AND MAJORETTES

HOCKEY

Row 1: Mike O'Leary, Joe Annese, Peter Muse—Co-captain, Paul Connors—Co-captain, Tom Sullivan—Co-captain, Ken Mutsumoto, Jim Rileyin. Row 2: Ted Steverman, Glen Carle, Steve Clifford, Gary Fay, Mare Hetnick, Glen Holt. Row 3: Tom Collins—manager, Jack Kirrane, Joe Guilley, Steve Rourke, Coach Divencenzo, Coach Gallagher. Absent: Coach Cohen, Bob Pugatch—manager.

The hockey team pulled an upset win over Hingham to capture second place in the Suburban League.

Tri-Captain Tom Sullivan shared the M.V.P. (Most Valuable Player) award with the Flanagan twins from Arlington. Junior defenseman Gary Fay made first team all-scholastic. Former defenseman, now forward Peter Muse made the third all-scholastic team.

Row 1: Coach Slaven, Peter Avergun—captain. Row 2: Mitchell Asch, Peter Maimonis, Steven Finley, Phil Aluf, Larry Higginbottom, Chester Wyche, Lester Wheeler, Bruce Rosen, Isaac Belbel.

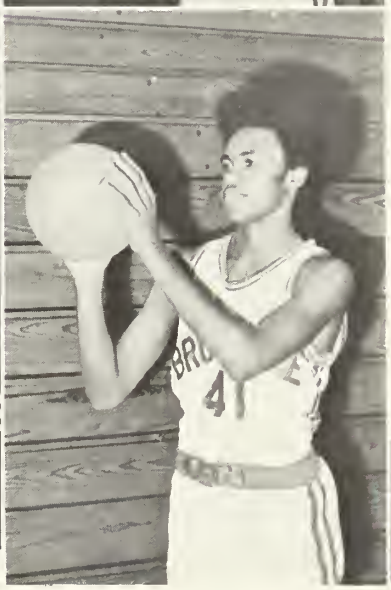
This could be Coach Slaven's 2nd losing season in 20 years. This however does not reflect a lack of dedication of the year's squad. They have been plagued with injuries and have lost many games in overtime or by 1 point.

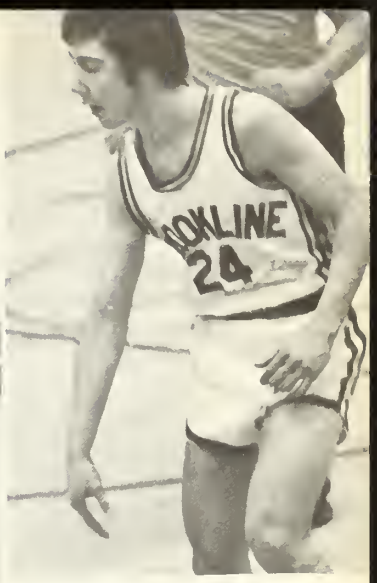
BASKETBALL

Bruce Rosen: G. Ave. 6.1
Best Game:
C.H.L.S., scored 16 points in winning cause.
Assets:
Great defensively, always hustling
Coaches Comment:
"Team's top defensive player. Superior attitude."

Steve Finley, F. Ave. 10.2
Best Game:
W. North, controlled board and scored many clutch hoops in upset victory
Assets:
Excellent leaper and rebound. Fine speed
Coaches Comment:
"Outstanding rebounder. Missed last year. Could be an outstanding college player."

Peter Avergun,
cap. G. Average 8.6
Best Game:
Boston Tech., kept Brookline in game with shooting and floorplay, 32 points.
Assets:
Excellent point man in Three-two offense. Fine attitude and leader
Coaches Comment:
"Fine ball handler against pressure. Peter is a highly dedicated athlete."





Lester Wheeler,
G.F. Ave. 2.0
Best Game:
Natick—excellent all-around game.
Assets:
Great leaper and strength for his size. Drives well.
Coaches Comment:
"Last year's lay off hurt his overall play. Good rebound for his size."

Chester Wyche, F. Ave. 4.3
Best Game:
Waltham—controlled the board and scored 15 points.
Assets:
Good rebounder and line shot.
Coaches Comment:
"An outstanding young man. Continually gaining self-confidence. Great college prospect."

Larry Higginbottom,
C. Ave. 17.5
Best Game:
Brockton—controlled bounds and scored 18 points. Great inspiration in upset win.
Assets:
Fine leaper, bounder and has excellent moves and drive.
Coaches Comment:
"When Larry's right, he's the best around. Potential middle size college guard."

The First Blizzard—Janice Lilly

I didn't need an alarm clock to get me out of bed
those early winter days.
even the laziest mornings
needed only a windowfull
of sleepy drifting snowflakes to confront my blinking eyes.
the floating tinsel glitter always cleared my head better than the alarm's blaring buzzing and quicker even than an icy wet facecloth on those magic (and oh so special) mornings
it took only 8.3 seconds to get me out of bed and run to the window find my furry pink slippers and dash down the hall to disrupt my sister's tranquil dreams with excited turmoil (but then again there also those times when my clock's grinding melody was preceded by her hysterical shrieks.)
then the two of us would race downstairs
to the kitchen
after first looking carefully
out the upstairs window
at the front of the house to be certain that there was still no plough scooping paths and shifting drifts
where only yesterday
there used to be a road.
the kitchen was always the warmest room
in the house
in winter
when it snowed.
or maybe it was just
that we didn't have time
to feel the cold.
the almighty radio
was enthroned on the kitchen shelf and it only needed to be gently prodded to start spurting and gurgling forth old songs
which yesterday we liked to hear but which now seemed to drag on forever.
and the weary arms
of the clock over the stove seemed sadly stuck in place.
the musty musical melodies were finally interrupted by crackling announcements
ushering in cheer and good will
for almost all.
"there will be no school today
in Braintree, Brighton, Boston, Cambridge, Dedham, Dorchester, Needham, and Watertown classes will also be cancelled
at the Humpty Dumpty nursery school in Belmont and the Jack and Jill nursery school in Waltham
there will be more no school announcements in fifteen minutes."
and then again those dreaded droning dirges.
we sat there
glued to the box on the counter wishing for bushels and yards and acres of snow
by the millions.
waiting with all ten fingers crossed (four on each hand and the two thumbs in the middle) despising the kids in Dedham and Boston and everywhere else where school was already called off as long as here there was still a chance of having to rush
and get dressed and bundled in sweaters and boots (not to go sledding or to go play in the snow)
but to trudge down the road to the bus stop.
and finally
when the seconds merged and the minutes died their timely death
we too were set free
by the holy proclamations
of Bud Ballou.
and then again we pasted our noses
to the cold window glass
to stare outside.
watching the lightening
of the brightening day
and envisioning
all the horses, tunnels, cakes, and forts that were soon to arrive in our afternoon glee.

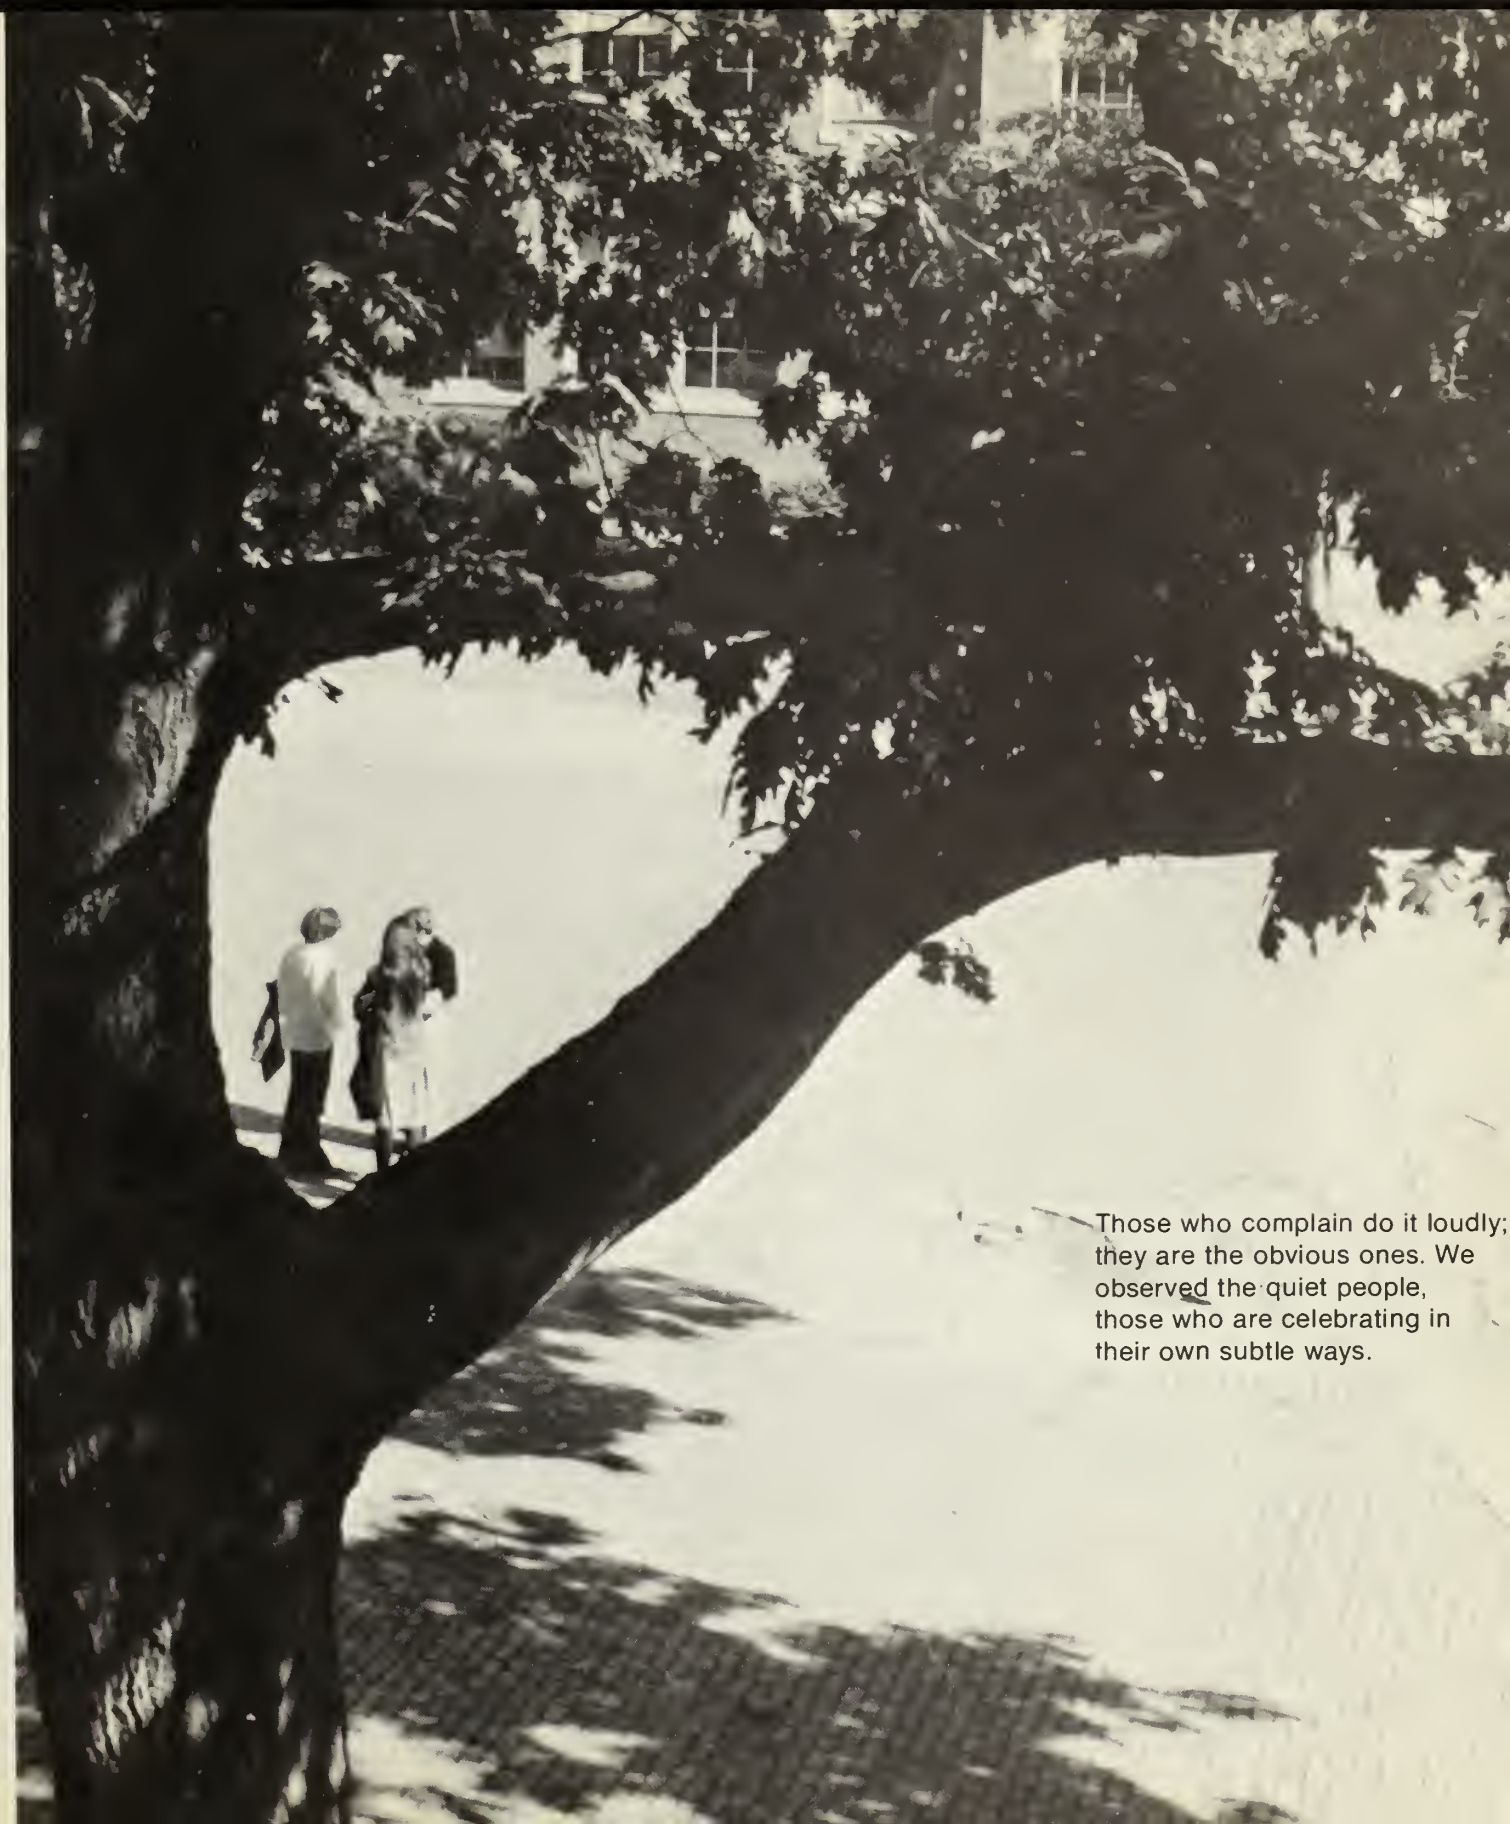
This has been the 50th year that the Murivian has been to press. What made the academic year 1971-1972 different? New courses? New rooms? New people? Those certainly meant growth, development and new ideas, but that was happening when the Murivian first went to press. This year, then, wasn't really different. Ours is an attempt to be helpful in remembrance of this year for even though the year wasn't that kind of different from a general viewpoint, it certainly was unique to each of us.



Those who complain do it loudly; they are the obvious ones. We observed the quiet people, those who are celebrating in their own subtle ways.

Foot steps of four years; past, fading out the door.
Only to be louder, then they've ever been before.
